Align Chiropractic and Comcast Business Services: Aligned for Success

Ask anyone who regularly sees a chiropractor and they'll tell you that it is a life changing experience. Star athletes, celebrities and everyday folks say that it is the top way to feel better, fight illness and lead a healthier life. Whether a golfer seeks an edge on the course, a mom wants to alleviate back pain from carrying a heavy toddler or a waiter wants to be able to stand on his feet without back pain, a good chiropractor can help set things straight and allow a patient to lead a fuller life.

According to Dr. Kevin Mikalaitis at Align Chiropractic Center in Longmont, Colo., chiropractic reduces stress and tension, alleviates spinal and extremity pain, diminishes risk of injury and degeneration, lessens headaches, improves sleep and does a whole lot more.

Dr. Mikalaitis and his business partner and wife Mercedes Mikalaitis strive to improve and enhance the quality of life for all their patients through high-quality, comprehensive chiropractic care.

"With every patient we see, we seek to help them discover a healthy, balanced and pain-free way of life," says Dr. Mikalaitis.

As a cutting-edge practice, the husband and wife team have integrated technology into the patient experience. While chiropractic care remains the top priority, having reliable technology has extended their quality of service. To support their tech needs, they turned to Comcast which serves as the backbone of their office operations.

"We're focused on convenience and a superior patient experience," says Mercedes. "For example, we rely upon Comcast's Business Class Phone service and their call forwarding feature. Our customers can reach the doctor 24 by 7. In our business that's everything."

They also use Comcast Business Class Internet to upload and download many of their patients' X-rays. The connection speed allows the X-rays to reach the hospital before the patient arrives or vice versa.

"It's great to have Comcast Business Class Internet," adds Dr. Mikalaitis. "When I send patients to the hospital to get X-rays, the X-rays actually beat the patient back to my office and the hospital is only a block away."

At Align Chiropractic, Dr. Mikalaitis and Mercedes embrace health in every way – in their office, community and in their own lives. And, it includes keeping their technology in top shape, too, so that they can provide the kind of care that keeps patients pain-free and living optimally.

"Local customer service is one strong reason to choose Comcast. Our service representative has been phenomenal."
